Subject: Microsoft Settlement

Although I am sending this from work, this is my private opinion.

From what I've read about the Microsoft settlement, it does not remedy the monopoly. It is imperative that this one company not be allowed to maintain a stranglehold on our future.

I believe that the part of Microsoft that produces and sells Windows should be broken apart from the parts that produce and sell programs that operate in Windows. With that interface exposed to competition, there will be competitio--on both sides of the interface.
